Generative AI:

a subset of artificial intelligence
focused on creating new content,
data, or solutions.

Our look at Generative AI

- Text generation (summaries, outlines, blog posts...)
- Image generation (blog post images, social images, web design, avatars...)
- Code generation (plugin scaffolds, database queries, code explanation...)

Large Language Models (LLMs)

advanced AI systems designed to understand, generate, and interpret human language by processing vast amounts of text data.

Step 1: Crawl a huge portion of the Internet

Ingest TB worth of language (reddit comments, NYT articles, blog posts, books...)

Step 2: Train your model

Feed this to a giant computer for days and spend a couple million dollars generating a kind of ZIP file (the parameters).

Step 3: Profit?

Your model can now predict the next word in a given context given what it's learned.

Generate a rap about WordPress in the style of Eminem

ChatGPT

Sure, I can create a rap in a style reminiscent of Eminem, themed around WordPress.

Here goes:

(Verse 1)

Yo, I'm diving in the digital, WordPress on the screen,

Crafting sites like a wizard, code flowing serene.

A dashboard dynamo, themes slick and clean,

Plugins popping, categories stacked, SEO machine.

Chorus:

WordPress, the beat of the web, steady and strong,

Eminem style, in this digital song.

Words flowing, pages growing, never do wrong,

In this virtual world, where we all belong.

Explain like I'm 10 years old the difference between the open-source WordPress.org project and WordPress.com

ChatGPT

Sure! Imagine you have a box of LEGO bricks. WordPress.org is like getting a box of LEGO bricks to build your own website. You can do whatever you want with these bricks, but you need to find a place to put your LEGO creation when it's done. This place is like a web hosting service where your website lives.

Now, WordPress.com is like going to a special LEGO play center. They give you some LEGO bricks (not as many as your own box) to build something, but you have to follow their rules, and you build it right there at the play center. You don't need to worry about where to put your LEGO creation because it stays at the play center.

So, with WordPress.org, you have more freedom and bricks, but you need to take care of where to keep your creation. With WordPress.com, it's easier to start, and you don't worry about where to keep it, but you have fewer bricks and need to follow their rules.
